

TOMATO CROP AND EARLY FROSTS

A. H. Thiesens, director of the United States weather bureau, with offices in Salt Lake, came to Ogden yesterday to endeavor to get the farmers and gardeners to co-operate in protecting the tomato crop from early frosts.

The frosts that affect the tomato crop are the early ones that come in August and ripen the tomatoes too soon, making it necessary to rush the crop to market, and thereby lose much and shorten the season. The frosts will be easy to combat, according to Director Thiesens, if the raisers of tomatoes will just band together.

CONGRESSIONAL DICTIONARY

"You charge him with being a lobbyist?"

"And why?"

"He didn't agree with me on the question that was under consideration. He was on the other side."

"Is that your definition of a lobbyist?"

"Of course."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

I've Got An Awful Job

The boss called me into the office the other day and said: "Gus, I'm going to give you an 'Awful Job.'"

I want you to take all the old stock from every one of our departments—all of the odd lots, tag ends—everything that should be closed out. I want you to take it all over to our Old Clothing Store and sell it. I don't care how cheap you sell it; but remember this: DON'T BRING ANY OF IT BACK!"

So I got busy at digging out this old stock. You should see the accumulation of stuff I found. There is a little of everything you expect to find in a big store like ours. Some of it has been here one year—some five years. I dug it out of Stock rooms—from under counters—from the back of shelves.

Then there was the clothing store. You know it has just been moved into the new building. You also probably know what happens when one moves. Well, the clothing man just left his old stock there and said: "Here, you can have this for your rummage sale."

GUS WRIGHT,
Advertiser for Wrights'.

I should judge there is twenty-five thousand dollars' worth of merchandise if it were listed at regular prices—but I'll get a GOOD DEAL LESS for it.

We're getting the stuff ready to day. Marking it cheap; spreading it out on tables. The store won't look very handsome, but I promise you there'll be some splendid prices.

I'll have everything laid out on tables so that you can walk around and see it. There'll be no charges—no refunds and no exchanges. You'll understand why when you see the prices.

The fun will begin Saturday morning (circus day) at about ten o'clock. Tomorrow evening I'll publish a list of some of the items. It will be worth reading.

Experienced clerks are wanted—at least twenty-five of them. Apply tomorrow.

Come in Saturday. This is to be a "sure enough" rummage sale. I'll bet I get the biggest crowd this store ever held.

VETERANS ARE ASKING FOR RELICS

Desiring to retain the old bell and the hand pump at Five Points "as reminders of days of yore," the Veterans Firemen's association of the city this morning petitioned the city board of commissioners to return to the organization the relics of the early fire-fighting days of the organization. Both the pump and the bell are in use at Five Points but the veterans are of the opinion that they will soon be discarded.

The communication relates that the Veterans purchased the pump and the bell of Mayor J. A. Boyle a number of years ago and that they desire to gain possession that they may be preserved by the order. The communication was placed on file for future consideration.

CENTRAL HOTEL PROPRIETOR IN TROUBLE

John Brunetti, the proprietor of the Central hotel, forfeited in police court this morning the $50 he had put up last night following his arrest and the arrest of a woman, Thelma Bartlett, in his house. Brunetti was charged with keeping a disorderly house. The woman is being held on $25 bail but no charge has been placed against her.

BROTHER OF TY COBB TO PLAY WITH OGDEN

Paul Cobb, brother of Ty Cobb, of the Detroit Americans, has been signed by the Ogden team and will appear in an Ogden uniform at Glenwood on Saturday. Cobb, who is an outfielder, like his brother, was recently released from the Lincoln, Neb., team of the Western league. He has left Lincoln and will arrive in Ogden at 2:35 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, accompanied by his wife.

That Cobb is considered to be of some worth in the baseball world, is made evident by the dispatches sent out by the Associated Press telling of his signing with the Ogden team. During last season he batted over .300, and was considered an excellent man in the field.

According to the management of the Ogden team, Cobb is not the only new man on the road to join the team. A second baseman may be expected at any time. Levy, Murray and Fels are slated for release. Until the new second baseman arrives, Wessler will be brought in from the field.

Owing to the circus performance on Saturday afternoon, the game at Glenwood on that date will not begin until 4:30 o'clock. On Sunday, the last day at home of the season, with the exception of five days in September, the game will be called at 3 o'clock.

When the team goes north Sunday night, the boys will remain away for five weeks. Two series will be played with Helena, because during the last northern trip that city was skipped. Ogden will return to Utah for a game with Salt Lake on Labor Day and then the season will be ended by the five other games with Salt Lake being played in this city.

A meeting of the directors of the Ogden association was held last night when the present situation was discussed and plans for next season were taken up for discussion.

RICH STRIKE IN BULL VALLEY GOLD MINE

Willard Scowcroft, secretary and treasurer and heavy stockholder of the Bull Valley Gold Mining company, made up of Ogden and Salt Lake capitalists, returned to the city today from the company's holdings with news of the latest strike on this remarkable property.

With R. G. McQuarrie of St. George, Utah, who has charge of the work at the mines, Mr. Scowcroft showed samples of ore that surpass anything any Nevada camp produced in the heat of the boom times. Any of the specimens brought from the holdings may be called nuggets and would assay from $10,000 to as high as $200,000 a ton.

The samples were secured from the upper tunnel, which is about 350 feet in the mountain. It is the fourth rich strike opened in this tunnel, while the whole distance has opened practically commercial ore. It is believed by the management and directors of the company that within a week enough ore can be taken from the latest strike to finance a mill.

Bull Valley, Utah's new mining camp, is located about 45 miles south of Modena on the Salt Lake route.

Willard Scowcroft, the heaviest stockholder, exhibited to the Standard today a piece of ore that had been sawed in half to show the depth of the gold metal. About half the ore appeared to be pure gold.

SECRETARY OF THE NAVY IN OGDEN

Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy, arrived in Ogden at 9:20 o'clock this morning and continued on the Short Line to Salt Lake where he is to be the guest at a reception this afternoon. The secretary is due to return to Ogden at 3:25 o'clock this afternoon to leave over the Union Pacific for the east.

Secretary Daniels and his party are traveling informally. The members of the party, including the secretary, occupy reservations in the regular Pullman cars of which the train is made up. During his stop in Ogden Secretary Daniels left the car for a few minutes to stroll up and down the platform but he had nothing to say to any one.

When the party arrived in Salt Lake the secretary was met at the station by Governor Spry, representatives of the Twentieth infantry and a local committee, who took him immediately to the Mormon tabernacle, where he listened to an organ recital. A luncheon in his honor followed.

Secretary Daniels said the report of his saying threatening letters from Industrial Workers of the World, as a result of his Seattle speech, was incorrect. He declared he had received no such threats.

CURES WITHOUT THE USE OF MEDICINE

According to Rev. Dr. Boyd, it may be a mistake to run to a man with an M. D. after his name, every time we find ourselves inconvenienced by a pain. Dr. Boyd, in his "First Principles," says, among other interesting things:

"Disease may arise from purely physical, or mental or spiritual conditions. One, two or all may become involved."

"Remedies are material, including medicine, surgery, manipulation, diet and hygiene; mental, including all methods by which the truth is suggested to the mind; spiritual, including all religious exercises. Any one, two, or all may be required to perfect a cure."

"The God of health has regular methods of imparting health to us, called laws, and by knowing and keeping them we are kept in health. When we are out of health his method is to use those who have studied these laws of health and are skilled in the knowledge of the accessories to health. The doctor in the realm of material things, the psychologist in the realm of mind, and the clergyman in the realm of spiritual forces."

Dr. Boyd is psychologist and clergyman and during his four-day stay in Ogden he will reveal something concerning mental and moral laws of health. He will give his first sermon next Sunday at the morning service of the Episcopal church.

The principles of the new methods by which cures are effected without medicine involve certain principles that may be expressed in the propositions which follow:

First—That man is endowed with a dual mind, termed objective and subjective, conscious and unconscious (or subjective).

Second—That the objective mind is under control of the volition and gives conscious direction to human energies.

Third—That the subjective mind has control of the organic functions, regulates the vital action, is the storehouse of energy, has comprehensive and accurate memory, is the repository of all habits and of automatic action in general. It is understood also to possess powers peculiar to itself, such as thought-transference and clairvoyance and is supposed to be the side of mind which lies open toward the universal or infinite.

Fourth—That the subjective mind is amenable to instruction and direction by the objective mind, not only of the subject but of others. This effect is supposed to be wrought through the power of conscious will. The method of conveying the impression is commonly termed suggestion. When applied to self it is auto-suggestion. Suggestion is given through one or more of the five senses or through the mere power of concentrated thought. Distance is supposed to be no bar to thought suggestion.

Fifth—That the subjective mind, not being able to carry on inductive reasoning, but being capable of superb deductive action, is peculiarly susceptible to impressions, and by proper management can be made an obedient servant.

Sixth—That all disease has its origin in the mind, the subjective taking its cue from its environment, from the fears, the constitutional bent, the impressions received from other minds, misinterpreted sensations, etc.

Seventh—That prevention of disease consists in keeping the subjective mind under the power of wholesome suggestion; and that the cure of disease consists in the use of suggestions running counter to disease and the establishment of subconscious thoughts of health, incited by conscious volition.

These are the basic principles of all methods of psychic cure, though not always acknowledged or understood by those who practice them.

AUGUST BODH IS HELD UNDER HEAVY BOND

August Bodh, the young man who shot Deputy Sheriff J. L. Hobson, and was in turn shot by the deputy near the carnival grounds last Friday evening, was arraigned before Judge W. H. Reeder this morning on the charge of assault with intent to commit murder and assault with a deadly weapon. He waived a preliminary examination and was bound over to the district court on bonds of $10,000, in default of which he must remain in jail.

Bodh stated in court that he is but 20 years of age. He appeared calm during and had nothing to say except to have Judge Reeder explain the purpose of a preliminary hearing.

The only mark remaining of the beating he received before and after he was arrested consisted of an inflamed right eye and a slightly swollen cheek. The wound on his right forearm was also visible.
